House Bill No. 12.

We publish the following law, not supposing for a moment that any of our "home folks" are at all interested, but for the benefit of any strangers that may be "within our gates." The law was published and went into effect February 25th, ult.

An act to prevent hunting and shooting on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

SECTION 1. Every person who shall engage in hunting or shooting on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction be fined in a sum not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the official State paper.

Approved February 19, 1886.

Woman Officials in Kansas.

A gentleman who has been investigating the matter has ascertained that there are thirteen women in Kansas who are holding county offices. Of these ten are county superintendents, two are registers of deeds and one is a county clerk.

Their names are as follows:

County superintendents—Gertie Sheen, Barber; Maggie Kilmer, Chautauque; Sallie Hulse, Cherokee; Mary Williams, Coffey; Mattie Worcester, Graham; Georgina Barnett, Greenwood; A. C. Baker, Labette; Annie E. Dixon, Lyon; Gertrude E. Stephens, Sheridan; Lizzie J. Stephens, Woodson.

Register of deeds—Jennie Patterson, Davis; A. M. Junken, Dickinson.—Beloit Gazette.

During the past week ten earloads of emigrant goods and stock arrived at this place. Also two cars of coal, one of corn and four of hay. Among the stock arriving were some well bred horses and cattle, indicating that the people this year are not coming to experiment, but to stay.—Oakley Opinion.

An Arkansas editor puts it thus: You may live all the stars in a line, hang the ocean on a rail fence to dry, put the sky in a gourd to soak, unbuckle the belly band of eternity and let out the sun and moon, but never delude yourself with the idea that you can escape that place on the other side of purgatory unless you pay the printer.
